

PROGRAM OBJECTIVE

The goal of Clinics in Perinatology is to keep practicing perinatologists, neonatologists, obstetricians, practicing physicians and residents up to date with current clinical practice in perinatology by providing timely articles reviewing the state of the art in patient care.

TARGET AUDIENCE

Perinatologists, neonatologists, obstetricians, practicing physicians, residents and healthcare professionals who provide patient care utilizing findings from Clinics in Perinatology.

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Upon completion of this activity, participants will be able to:

1. Recognize that assessment, diagnosing, preoperative and postoperative planning, as well as postoperative management of fetal and neonatal surgeries and interventions to ensure safe and comprehensive care, demands a multidisciplinary and collaborative scientific approach.
2. Discuss the difficulties, controversies, and ethical and safety concerns which impact the development and application of fetal and neonatal surgical interventions and procedures.
3. Review best practice guidelines and recommendations for medical and surgical management of fetal and neonatal complications and disorders to ensure safe and ethical treatment that lowers the risk of morbidity and mortality.

ACCREDITATION

The Elsevier Office of Continuing Medical Education (EOCME) is accredited by the Accreditation Council for Continuing Medical Education (ACCME) to provide continuing medical education for physicians.

The EOCME designates this journal-based CME activity for a maximum of 14 AMA PRA Category 1 Credit(s)[™]. Physicians should claim only the credit commensurate with the extent of their participation in the activity.

All other health care professionals requesting continuing education credit for this enduring material will be issued a certificate of participation.

DISCLOSURE OF CONFLICTS OF INTEREST
